

Members of the society attend the Bicentennial of the War of 1812 Advisory Council in Richmond on September 19, 2012 L/R: Deputy Councilor, Stuart Butler; Past President, Mike Lyman; and Historian Peter Broadbent

Deputy Councilor, Stuart Butler announces his new book, Defending the Old Dominion: Virginia and Its Militia During the War of 1812, will be available for purchase on February 13, 2012 from the University Press of Virginia website. Here the book outline and contents will be shown. It is also featured on Amazon and Barnes & Noble. It is listed at $95 however Stuart will provide signed copies to our members at a discount. Shown (right) is the cover page.

From our Quartermaster J. Shane Newcombe you can get the VA Society's James Monroe tie, the VA Society Medal and Society nameplates. His contact number is on page 21. For General Society accessories please contact the General Society Quartermaster, our President John Dickie. For items he sells see The 1812 War Cry magazine's back page. Especially nice to wear at all of our events is the large insignia, the blazer patch and the new Bicentennial medal. The large membership certificate is very special.
