

VA Society War of 1812 Joins SAR in Supporting a Little League Team

Friday night March 29th 2019, the James Monroe Chapter SAR Color Guard along with the War of 1812 society in Virginia presented the colors for the opening program for the Richmond County little league 2019 season. This year the James Monroe Chapter sponsored a team of minor league players. On that team is member Colt Belfield along with member Brennen Belfield as coach. By sponsoring a team the Richmond County little league displays a banner with the James Monroe Chapter Virginia Society SAR on an outfield fence. Also the Sons of the American Revolutions name is displayed on the back of the teams uniforms. The little league season begins now and last well into fall with thousands of children, parents, friends and relatives attending. Every time the Mets minor league team plays, the Sons of the American Revolution will be displayed. Every person that attends the game will walk by our banner because it is located on the outfield fence next to the park entrance. The Color Guard members were George Beckett and Charles Belfield, SAR and Hugh Markham, Registrar War of 1812 Society in VA

Some photos taken are shown

Above Hugh Markham, Registrar War of 1812 Society in Va carries the American Flag as the National Anthem is played, Charles Belfield of the society leads the color guard and member George Beckett carries the SAR chapter flag

L/R Above Charles Belfield, Councilor War of 1812 Society and 1812 member George Beckett

